THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Caucasian and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

Let it be borne in mind that as the volume of money is decreasing the value of every dollar is increasing in corresponding ratio; property is failing in value and debts growing harder to meet. For a quarter of a century this process has been steadily going forward until the great bulk of all values have passed into the hands of those who control the money of the people.—National Economist.

COTTON SEED OIL MILL.

A few weeks since we advised our farmers to exchange their cotton seed with some oil mills for meal for fertilizer. This could be very much facilitated and another paying industry started in this town if our business men would follow the example of Laurinburg. A correspondent of the Messenger says:

"Capitalist of Laurinburg and community will have completed and in operation by the 1st of September a very fine cotton seed oil mill. The mill proper is 40x90 feet and the seed house is 100x40 feet. Mr. A. F. Bizzell is president and Mr. H. McM. Lytch is secretary. The company has four first-class cleaners and linters. These linters, it is said, will gather 20 pounds of cotton from one ton of seed. The huller, it is claimed, will hull 30 tons of seed per day. The boiler and engine are of the Talbot & Son manufacture, Richmond, Va., and is 100 horse power."

We ought to have such a mill here. We believe the various Alliances of the county would take liberal stock in it.

"WE MUST BROADEN OUT."

A recent editorial in the Durham Globe shows that the alert editor of that paper is on the right track and is trying to pull his town into line. He recognizes the fact that the town or community that prospers and keeps abreast with the busy, bustling and enterprising age that is now upon us, must look to developing its interests, starting small manufacturing establishments and making every point in our domestic & political economy tell. The Globe says:

"It does not require the wisdom of a Solomon to realize the fact that if Durham is to move forward to that grand destiny which the most hopeful of her citizens believe to be awaiting her, she has got to get out of the groove and diversify her interests.

"It is the wish of The Globe to speak frankly, believing that all reasonable people will appreciate the truth of the remark that 'he is a friend, indeed, who tells thee of thy faults.'

"The visitor or new comer who walks down Main street or any other business thoroughfare of this city on any of these bright mornings is impressed with the number of merchants, who, for a lack of sufficiency of patronage sit at their doors whittling a stick, reading a paper or talking to some one equally as unengaged."

Will this not apply to Clinton and to nearly every town in Eastern Carolina? As we have said once before, let those who are whittling sticks, waiting for customers, take the same capital that is in their stores and put it in to small manufacturing establishments, such as a canning factory, soap factory, starch factory, cotton seed oil mill or even a cotton factory, and they would no longer be idle, and in addition, they would then be real manufacturers, producing wealth, giving employment to others, which in turn would offer a market for home produce. If this is not so, let some one show to the contrary, and if it is so, then let us get at it.

"HOME PAPERS."

There are many solid chunks of wisdom and good horse sense in an article written by the talented and versatile Dr. Kingsbury, of the Wilmington Messenger. The home paper, who can estimate its value? Where is the good citizen who can excuse himself for not supporting it? Hear what the Nestor of the press says:

"The longer we live and the more observation we have the more convinced we are that a HOME PAPER is worth a dozen foreign papers—papers published in other States—although they be furnished at fifty cents a year and are large enough to cover a double-bed of the old style patern.

"We have this to say to the public: We care not if you get a New York, Atlanta or Louisville paper at ten cents a year you cannot do without North Carolina papers.

"Wipe out the 160, more or less, papers published in North Carolina now, and let our people look to New York and other cities for their reading and you will be poor indeed. We verily believe that in five years every interest would languish. We verily believe that in five years pride of State would become a thing of the past, and historic memories and the glories that cluster around the name of North Carolina would fade into nothingness and the traditions and ancestral faiths would become a by-word and a reproach, or be cherished only by a few faithful souls who lived among their books or recalled the crucical days when brave hearts stood up for right and imperiled all for altars and firesides.

"You cannot do without your true, faithful, unfaltering, honest, wide awake home paper. You will lose all that buoys and enlivens and stirs the heart as a trumpet if you cease to sustain HOME PAPERS. Do not wander off after false gods and false lights. There is scarcely a sound Democratic paper in New York City.

* * * * *

"We say to you again, people of North Carolina, sustain well your own faithful papers. They are your friends, and they only. They are your sentinels and they only are your proper defenders.

"Let every man who is able to do so subscribe to his county paper first. * * * * * It will do you good. Help to make it better."

How can the people of this section help to make THE CAUCASIAN better? First, by helping us to secure a subscription list large enough to justify us, not only to continue to run the paper up to the present standard, but also to make it better. Second, by aiding us to get and publish the news. A newspaper is not a newspaper without the news. We get all the news we possibly can out of the county, but our subscribers in the county must furnish us with the township news or else we cannot get it. Let every man who has an item, or knows a piece of news, send it to us immediately, don't wait until it is a week or two old. Thirdly, by helping us to inform the other farmers of any plan which you have tried successfully. In this way we can make our Farmer's Column a medium of communication and a useful source of information and profit to the profession. Who will write us a communication for this column first? Next let the children write for the "Children's Corner" and the ladies for "Woman's Sphere."

If our people will all just help us in this way, then THE CAUCASIAN will be without a rival in its province in North Carolina journalism.

NORTH CAROLINA NAVAL CADETS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Naval cadets Worth, Bagley and Alfred McKethan have entered the naval academy with high percentages. Worth and Bagley received the second highest average, among seventy candidates examined, his mark being 3.32, four is perfect. Alfred McKethan was not far behind him as his average was 3.10. These were two of the seventeen who passed on the first examination much to North Carolina's credit. Thirty were re-examined. Whitted, of Brower's district, will probably pass the re-examination. Raleigh and Fayetteville has reason to be proud of their young representatives.—Wil. Messenger.

Mr. McKethan is the representative for this district and was one of several applicants examined some time ago at Warsaw. We congratulate our young friend from Cumberland.

CUMBERLAND NEWS.

Negro Emigration Bureau—Fayetteville's New Postmaster.

[Reg. Cor. CAUCASIAN.]
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 9th, 1889.

The Kings Daughters gave a delightful Japanese entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. rooms Friday night, a very large crowd was present. Japanese curiosities were on exhibition, and ice cream and other refreshments were freely dispensed to all. A contribution box was provided and everybody was expected to drop some silver in. The amount realized was nearly $10.00, which is for the gymnasium fund of the Y. M. C. A. The apparatus has been ordered. The new building for the gymnasium and apparatus will cost about $500.00.

Alfred McKethan, of this city passed successfully his first examination for a cadetship at Annapolis. Worth Bagley of Raleigh also passed. Both stood high. Alfred received his education in the Fayetteville Graded School. He is a bright boy, and will make a fine record in the navy.

The permanent organization of the Fayetteville and Albermarle railway was effected last Wednesday by the election of the following officers: John Blue, Dr. J. W. McNeill, Hon. Thos. H. Sutton, A. A. McKethan, Jr., J. Milton Hagy, A. B. Williams and N. S. Blue. The directors elected the following officers, President, John Blue, Vice President, N. W. Ray, secretary Z. W. Whitehead, Treasurer A. A. McKethan, Jr. Mr. D. G. McDuffie, surveyor made an interesting report. Fayetteville, Aberdeen and Philadelphia capitalists are interested and have subscribed many thousands of dollars. The completion of this road to Albermarle would be of vast benefit to this city, opening up a new country rich in resources, a glance at a map will show that it will run from here through western Cumberland, Moore, Montgomery (without a railroad) and Stanly (also without a railroad) counties, parallel with, and about midway between the North Carolina and Carolina Central railroads, neither of which reach the country through which the new road will run.

We have seen the plans for the new passenger depot of the Yadkin Valley road in this city. It will be a beautiful structure and an ornament to the city, surpassing anything of the kind in the State. Work is going on at an active rate.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bryan Grininan of Japan are visiting here. They have been for a month visiting Mr. Grinuan's relatives in Virginia. Mrs. Grinuan and Miss Arlena Seete, and her many friends are delighted to see her after an absence of eleven years in the missionary work of far away Japan. They will return shortly to Japan.

Mr. H. L. Fry has been elected chief engineer of the C. F. & Y. V. Railway. He and his brother Mr. J. W. Fry, General Superintendent are thorough railroad men and genial gentlemen.

One of the chief features of the approaching centennial will be the Grand Centennal Ball in honor of Miss Winnie Davis, "the daughter of the confederacy." The centennial German Club has been organized, and a hall will be provided that will hold several thousand people.

The Fair Grounds are being put in good shape. Among the improvements is a grand stand capable of seating five thousand people. The fire works during the centennial will probably take place on these grounds.

The Durham Globe is advocating the extension of the Durham and Lynchburg road to this city. It was the original intention to come here, and we hope the officials have not changed their minds. The Globe set forth in a forcible article the reasons why it should It would connect with several roads and with the river to Wilmington giving the benefits of outlets in every direction.

It would not be surprising if there should be elected this week an outsider as superintendent of the Insane Asylum. That seems to be the rage. We believe however that a North Carolinian will be chosen as is proper.

The negroes have organized a County Emigration Bureau and are talking of going to Arkansas and other States. North Carolina would be infinitely better off if two hundred thousand of them would go. We will never get intelligent settlers from other States in large numbers as long as the ignorant and shiftless negro is here. Intelligent farmers will hardly try to carry on scientific farming with ignorant labor, and white labor is not coming here to compete with them. We do not wish the darkey any harm, but say let him go, hoping that fortune will smile upon him nearer his natural home, the equator.

A refreshing rain fell on Saturday afternoon. The dust in the streets was very disagreeable.

The Government work on the Cape Fear river, between here and Wilmington, will have to stop in a few weeks until another appropriation is available. Capt. Humphrey has his office here and has two clerks. He has made many friends who are glad that he is not going to remove, as the next appropriation will soon be available. The work done has improved the river very much, making navigation possible all the year, by putting in jetties, thus deepening the channel. Rock is obtained at a quarry three miles up the river.

One of the leading merchants told us that there was more business done in Fayetteville during the cotton year just closed than any year since the war. The wholesale merchants ship a great many goods up and down the railroads. One firm keeps four drays busy all the time. The trade area is extending every year. One drummer of one of our dry goods houses says he sold thirty-five thousand dollars worth of goods himself, besides there was another drummer on the road for the same house.

It is not known exactly when the Postal Telegraph Company will open its office here. Quite a number of employees are here, and it is expected that the office will open some time during this month.

There is said to be a good deal of sickness through the country. Malarial fever is the trouble. In town there is very little sickness of any kind.

Mr. D. F. Wemyss was appointed, by President Harrison, postmaster for this city, last Thursday, vice J. B. Smith removed.

THE YANKEE VS. THE NEGRO.

"The Atlanta Journal remarks that while negro immigrants from the border States are invited to go to the South-west, no invitation comes to these immigrants from any Northern State. It might still further remark that no such invitation ever would come. They are not wanted up there."

The Jonesboro Leader, edited by a native "yankee," who has cast his lot among us, and by his New England pluck and enterprise has established and sustained a first-class paper says:

No! as a rule we don't believe they are, or that it would be well for them to make the North the objective point for an "exodus." They might get work at first, going a few at a time, but it is only the very best of them who would keep his job and such negroes are appreciated, wanted and kept in the South, and know enough to stay here. Why couldn't they keep their job? Because too many of them won't work faithfully unless under the eye of the boss, for one thing; because, as was shown in hundreds of cases in the "exodus" last fall, they can't be depended on as a class to keep their agreements, and few Northern farmers would have them on his place after one thorough trial. He isn't used to them and their ways nor are they to him and his. The South has always had them, knows them and their peculiarities, can and does get along with them as laborers, and the South is the place for them. They are better off here every way.

Brother Baker knows whereof he speaks and we accept him as authority on this point.

TIME FOR SATAN AT CAMP-MEETINGS.

With Boss Mahone preaching the doctrine of "purity in elections" we may expect to hear a scathing rebuke of sin from Satan at some approaching camp-meeting. It was Mahone who introduced bulldozing, vote-buying, return-forging and all the iniquities in elections which he now has the monumental impudence to stand up and condemn. The only true word which the little pirate said was that these schemes "must sooner or later return to plague the inventors."—N. Y. World.

OUR FARMERS' COLUMN.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

☞So many agricultural papers are published and articles written by men, who have little or no practical experience as farmers, that information and suggestions through such mediums have fallen into disrepute, and does but little good. In view of this fact, we wish to get the views and tested plans of practical farmers for this column each week. So farmers, send in an account of your success in any branch of Agriculture, for the benefit of the profession.☜

Mr. Rufus F. Herring, one of our live farmers, who sold the first bale of cotton in Clinton last year, has sustained his record by selling the first bale this year to Mr. William A. Johnson last Friday, the 6th. It graded middling and brought 10 cents a pound, weighing 482 pounds.

Save the Hay.

Capt. C. Partrick tells us that he has saved 30,000 pounds of hay this summer. He sowed no grass but simply cut the crab grass that grew up where he had wheat and rice. He would have saved even more if the ground had been properly prepared. He says that it has paid him as well as any crop he has planted. He will break up his land (in low wet places) next spring, manure, harrow and roll it, and make a fine crop. He has spent $400, for Northern hay to feed his stock this year and says that he will never do so again. The hay he has saved this summer has cost him almost nothing, yet he says he would not take $1.00 per hundred for it.

There is enough hay now in the fields of this county to feed all the stock in it next year if we were not to save a blade of fodder. Let us save it, not for market, but for our stock. Let us keep more stock and raise more manure. This is the only way to permanently improve our farms.

Make Compost of Them.

A CAUCASIAN reporter who attended the sale in Turkey township last week says that Mr. Wm. A. Faison has several large compost heaps, which consists of nothing less than the body of a cow or horse which has died. This is a good idea, for such a compost heap is worth $20 to any farm if properly managed. Such heaps should not be near the dwelling and be enclosed by a fence to prevent dogs from scratching into it. When this compost is used the bones of the animal should be carefully saved, placed in a trench and treated with acids to decompose them to be used in another compost heap.

Hog Fever.

A great many of the hogs of this county are suffering and dying with a kind of fever. Bumps come over the skin of the hog and it has a high fever. The regular hog cholera treatment does them no good. Mr. J. R. Bradshaw, of Giddensville, says that when they have this fever, they should have but little to eat, and no corn. Give them a few potatoes and cooked food. He says that he has found quinine as effectual with them as with a person when suffering with malarial fever. Mr. Bradshaw is an old man sixty-six years old, has raised a large family of eight children, is a good farmer and has never bought a pound of meat for his use, has several years sold as much as fifty barrels of corn.

The farmer who uses his brains as well as his muscle in his daily work will succeed, if such a thing is possible in these days of low prices and limited market. He should understand how to do everything on the farm, and if he entrusts his work to help, this knowledge is especially needful.

The Winston Sentinel says:—The Georgia Farmers' Alliance has resolved not to sell a pound of cotton for less than 12½ cents. If they can just get the whole South to join hands there'll be money in farming.

Even at this price farmers could not raise cotton with which to buy home supplies. Let the price of cotton be what it may, the good farmer is the one who first raises a sufficiency of home supplies, viz: corn, meat, molasses, hay, fodder, peas, etc., and some to supply his neighbors, before planting the so-called money crop, for cotton is anything but a money crop. The application of this logic is, we think, the only salvation for the farmers of this State.

Muscle and Brains Both.

The American Farmer says:

The time has passed for farmers to depend on muscle and hard labor alone. They must use their brains as well as hands. They must do more thinking and planning if they desire to receive the best results. The lawyer studies law. The doctor medicine. The merchant must study commerce, the laws of supply and demand, and the banker must acquaint himself with the principles and details of finances. Just so the farmer must study farming. The experiments of last year in crop raising and breeding must be remembered and put to practical use this year. Not only his own experience but that of his co-laborers should be his to profit by. Farming is a science, and there are many new things to learn in it yet; and the best and cheapest way to learn those things is by study. Take agricultural papers, read in their columns the experiences and observations of others and avail yourself of the many useful hints and suggestions.

We have an article on "Agricultural Education" in another column, to which we can appropriately call your special and thoughtful attention after reading the above.

Agricultural Fairs—Their Educational Value.

Dr. R. G. Elzey, writing to the National Economist, claims that even the worst fairs do a great deal of good. We give part of his article below:

The season of agricultural fairs is at hand, and it is to be hoped these displays will be so managed as to present their object-lessons in the most instructive manner before the public eye. At perhaps the worst fair ever seen there were doubtless many who found precisely what they wanted to see, and took home with them valuable information for future application in their ordinary farm practice. Perhaps some machine was seen at work and explained to some inquirer who afterwards adopted it, saving both money and labor by its use. In this department alone the writer, who has paid attention to the subject, believes that a most useful and important educational work has been done. In the matter also of the introduction of improved breeds of live-stock, the agency of the fairs has been a prime factor. In the department of household economies also progress has been greatly helped. There is no doubt that rural life has been rendered more successful and attractive in a great variety of ways. The fast-horse business has not by any manner of means been the big end of the show to the thoughtful and the wise. It is to be greatly hoped that the displays will come to be more and more arranged with a view to their educational value. The value of that sort of education which the wisest and most experienced always obtain by contact with their fellows, is not underestimated; the value of pleasure as pleasure is not underestimated, nor is and disposition here indulged to censure the merely attractive features of the fair. Gate money is the one thing needful for holding the fair at all. Only make the displays more distinctly with a view to their educational value.

While it is not the best plan to keep the hogs confined, yet sometimes it is unavoidable. When this is the case it is necessary to see that they are well supplied with green feed. When they can be had without too much expense, ground oats is one of the very best feeds for young growing pigs, as they contain the elements necessary for the proper development of bone and muscle.

THE FAIR A CERTAINTY.

THE SAMPSON AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY ORGANIZED UNDER A CHARTER AS A CORPORATION.

Officers Elected and Work Commenced.

THE TIME FIXED AT THE 4TH, 5TH, AND 6TH OF DECEMBER NEXT.

About the year 1850, a number of the leading citizens of Sampson joined themselves together in a society, forming what is known as the Sampson County Agricultural Association. Each of these persons contributed $20.00 and was known as a life member. Annual members were received upon payment of $200. This Society conducted annual fairs with great success till suspended in 1861 by the direful exigencies of civil war. In 1869 the Society was re-organized and held its first fair after the war December 5th–8th, 1870. Large and successful fairs were held by the Society annually for fourteen years. During this period the Sampson fairs became famous not only over North Carolina, but even in other States. One of the secrets of the success of these fairs was the interest, information and intelligence infused into the agriculture of the county by the monthly meetings of the Society. These monthly meetings were devoted to the discussions of the most improved methods and advanced ideas in every branch of agriculture. Such we hope will be the case again, for it would give THE CAUCASIAN great pleasure to report the ideas and plans advanced in such meetings to our readers each week through the "Farmers' Column." The last Fair held by the ante-bellum Society was in 1884.

On last Saturday, the 7th instant, the Society was re-organized as a corporate body under the charter granted by the Legislature of 1875.

President—Henry E. Faison; Vice-President—Col. L. A. Powell; Recording Secretary—H. B. Chesnutt; Corresponding Secretary—Marion Butler; Treasurer—Abram Hobbs.

The President appointed the following for Executive Committee: Col. L. A. Powell, Senator E. W. Kerr, Ex-Sheriff Jno. A. Oates, Everett Peterson, Capt. W. L. Faison, W. K. Pigford, D. B. Nicholson and Rep. Wm. E. Stevens.

The question as to holding a fair this fall came up upon the reading of a subscription list signed by many of the leading citizens of the community offering to donate $200, to be used in repairing the Fair Ground property, if the Society will hold a fair this year. It was decided to hold a fair by a majority of two votes, whereupon Captain Faison, who voted in the negative, moved that the resolution be made unanimous and that we resolve to go to work with a determination to hold a big and successful fair. The motion was enthusiastically adopted.

Upon the adjournment of the Society, the President, as ex-officio chairman of the Board of Directors, called that body together. They decided that the date for holding the fair be December 4th, 5th and 6th.

D. B. Nicholson, Esq., was unanimously elected Chief Marshal.

A building and repairing committee, consisting of Col. L. A. Powell, Sheriff John A. Oates, and President H. E. Faison, were appointed and agreed to proceed with the necessary work on the next Monday morning.

Next Thursday, the 12th, was appointed for the next meeting of the Board, at which time a Premium List will be prepared.

No farmer can get to the head of the procession by hanging to the tail of a scrub cow.

HOW TO MAKE UP.

Two little people who couldn't agree
Were having a tiff, and were "mad as could be."
They looked at each other in silence awhile,
Till a sudden glad thought made one of them smile.

Said she, "Say, you ain't very mad, are you, Bessie?"
"Well, no," said the other, "nor you, are you, Jessie?"
"Then, let us make up," little Jessie suggested;
"Well, you be the one to begin," Bess requested.

But that didn't suit. So the tiff lingered still,
While the small-sized disputants were claiming their will,
When, what do you think brought at last sunny weather?
Just this—they agreed to begin both together.

A Boy's Composition on "Clumbus."

"Clumbus was a man who could make an egg stand on end without breaking it. The king of Spain said to Columbus: 'Can you discover America?' 'Yes,' said Clumbus, 'if you will give me a ship.' So he got a ship, and sailed over the sea in the direction where he thought America ought to be found. The sailors quarreled, and said they believed there was no such place But after many days the pilot came to him and said 'Clumbus; I see land.' "Then, that is America,' said Clumbus. When the ship got near, the land was full of black men. Columbus said, 'Is this America?' 'Yes, it is,' said they. Then the chief said, I suppose you are Clumbus?' 'You are right,' said he. Then the chief turned to his men, and said: 'There is no help for it; we are discovered at last.'"

CLINTON, N. C.,—SEPT. 12, 1889.

There are 115 cotton factories in North Carolina.

The Wilson Advance announces that its town has seventy-six marriageable girls who would make good wives for somebody.

We have received a catalogue of the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, to which we will give further notice next week.

We pay out $85,000,000 more each year in pensions to yankee soldiers than it takes for Germany to cover the total cost of her great standing army. Yet Tanner says the pensions must increase.

A man by the name of Graham made the trip over Niagara Falls last week in a barrel. To accomplish this feat was the ambition of his life and the accomplishment of it came near being the end of his life also.

The New York Star in its new dress, is, we verily believe, the prettiest paper in the United States. Its Sunday edition is unsurpassed by anything of the kind, in form and matter, that we have ever seen.

The mortgage system has truly an iron grip on this country. The latest that has turned up is that there is a mortgage on the White House, the Washington home of the Presidents, for $120,000 and the holder thereof thinks it is about time that this mortgage was lifted.

Hon. S. S. Cox, commonly known as "Sunset Cox," died of pneumonia in New York City on the 10th instant, aged 65. He was one of the greatest Democrats in the North and one of the greatest friends of the South and defenders of constitutional liberty and gennine Democracy.

New York and Chicago are battling for the Centennial in 1892. Each city thinks itself entitled to it, and as the fight waxes, some one is led to say, "it's a good thing for Columbus that he is out of the way. If he had to locate the show of '92 it would be a tougher job than discovering America."

The New York World says it is quite amusing to see a long dissertation in Administration organs on "Civil-Service difficulties." The only Civil-Service difficulty that besets this Administration arises from its physical inability to make places fast enough at Uncle Sam's corn crib to satisfy the appetite of the "lean and hungry Republican shoats."

The Directors of the Fayetteville and Albermale Railroad Company met in Fayetteville on the 5th instant and elected the following officers: President, John Blue; Vice-President, N W. Ray; Secretary, Z. W. Whitehead; Treasurer, A. A. McKeithan, Jr. It is probable that this road will be built, and if so, it will open up finely timbered sections of the counties of Cumberland, Moore Montgomery and Stanley.

Diversified Farming.

The one crop system followed up, will breed disease, no matter what the crop may be. A rotation of crops will, in a measure, if not wholly, prevent its development. Diverse crops on the same soil is measurably a preventive and as well a rejuvenator of the soil. Corn following corn, or wheat following wheat for a series of years is the prime cause of insect pests; whereas an absolute change, not only of crop, but of variety of crop so as to induce a change in the method of cultivation, in the habits of plant growth and the demands on the soil will be very apt to prevent the development of insect pests.

The man is rich who doesn't want more than he has means to get. Some one has said that riches consist in the abundance of things a man does not want, and there is a great big piles of solid chunks of wisdom in the saying.

A MODERN PARABLE.

Cabbage and Collards.

Spec. Cor. to The Caucasian.

The farmers in this State do not raise their cabbage seed, but buy them from abroad, because if they should plant seed of their own raising, they would degenerate and soon become nothing but collards. Cabbage and collards are the same plant, except as affected by soil and climate. It is a practice with some, to pull up the ordinary collard plants, when it becomes time to "set them out," and having cut off the tap roots which penetrate deeply into the soil, to transplant them. These plants will then "head up" and make first rate cabbages.

It is the same way with men, or at least, we must infer as much, from the practice of our people in going abroad every time we want a man who will "head up." Our native population will do very well for collards, but when we want cabbages, that is, men with "heads" on them, we must depend upon importations. When we want a President and Professors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college, or a man to fill a vacancy in the State University, or indeed any man of ability and learning, we know instinctively that our soil and climate will not produce any such, and we must seek them abroad. And when we are reminded that originally the seed was pure cabbage and produced such magnificent heads as Badger, Gaston, Dobbin &c we remember that, like the once fine cabbages in our gardens, they are now nothing but collards. It is true also of our men, as with our collards, that when we pull them up and cut off the tap root which binds them to our soil, they make fine cabbages with splendid big heads. Look at Clarence Dixon of Baltimore, and Tom Dixon of New York, who leaving North Carolina a few years ago, comparatively obscure preachers, are now taking rank with leading Divines of the world, and we might make a similar remark of hundreds of others who likewise have had their tap roots cut off and are growing up into magnificent cabbages. Had they remained here they would all have been collards. We know a faithful minister of the gospel who has worn out his health and strength in the service of his people on a salary that is a bare support, equal in eloquence and logical power to any we have mentioned and yet, known only in this section, and to some extent, in the Presbytery and Synod of the state. He is nothing but a collard.

Now in real earnest. Is it any wonder that our young men of talent and energy are leaving the state? But we do not complain. We see the evil and deplore it but it is better to suggest a remedy than to repine, therefore we propose:—

1st That the State of North Carolina purchase from Virginia a suitable tract of land about 20 miles square.

2nd That the same be enclosed by a plank fence.

3rd That it be converted into something like a stock farm and a suitable number of our most promising boys be sent there yearly, to be raised and to furnish us with our future statesmen, professors and men of ability in every walk of life.

4th That the balance of us be collards or leave.

Respectfully,

A Collard.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

The National Economist has an excellent article on Agricultural Education by "M. G. E." which we would be glad to give to our readers in full, but for want of space we make a few extracts only. But the paragraphs below will furnish much food for thought and reflection not only to the intelligent reader and progressive agriculturist but also to every wise lawmaker:

"Many seem to suppose that education is complete when at the close of the school-life the young man is placed in possession of the instruments of culture, by the patient, life-long and skillful use of which that broad and substantial intellectual growth and development may be produced, and not otherwise. Surely this is a conspicuously apparent error well known to every thoughtful person. The foundations of a sound agricultural education must be laid in a true conception of the nature of the calling as a learned scientific pursuit. * * * * At every hazard it may be concluded that an agricultural college ought not to be placed in competition with the primary common school in teaching the primary and rudimentary branches to wholly immature and untaught children. It may, with equal safety, be concluded that it is not to be made a schedule of a little Latin and less Greek, as a sort of ludicrous would-be competitor with, or preparatory school for, the State University, with a little mock practice at agricultural labor in scattering dung or hoeing cabbage or digging potatoes or pulling turnips, or such like absurd folly. An agricultural college must be a school of science applied to practical agriculture, or it will be a thing falsely designated, and its name an absurd misnomer. * * * * *

"But, after all, the best college work is only preparatory work in agricultural science, capable, as has been pointed out already, of laying only the foundation of that intellectual development which will fit a man in some degree for the pursuit of scientific agriculture, and finally obtain the mastery of it. It is in the great post-graduate school of real life that educational work is mainly done; that intellectual growth and development attain to any considerable proportions, and it is true that when many conceive education to be complete and finished the real work is only about to be begun. As the graduate with his diploma steps forth from his mimic world of words and symbols and abstract principles, and is brought face to face with men and things in a world of grim realities, what is he now to do? What does he know how to do? Alas! for this poor schoolboy. Thrust out of doors upon the world, too many times there is nothing in the books to show him how he is to find out his life-work, or even to help him about the finding or the doing of it. Therefore, it becomes necessary for the progress of agriculture that the post-graduate school of real life shall be well organized and equipped. Out of this necessity have arised such institutions as agricultural societies, clubs, wheels, alliances, and other like organizations, which are so many chairs in that great school in which the actual life-work of the man is to be done. To help on the work of this school we have also State and National experiment stations and a great National Department of Agriculture. We have moreover, papers, and periodicals, and reports, and bulletins, and advertisements, and museums, and shows, and many more instrumentalities, to say nothing of the practice and experience of neighbors, and more than all, of the man's own practice and experience.

"Now, therefore, why have the politicians, who indignantly disclaim that they are professional politicians, but who nevertheless by that trade have their living, risen with one accord to denounce our Alliance as mischievous in purpose and effect? The Democratic politician denounces it as a scheme to break up the Democratic party, the Republican as a trick to catch Republican votes. We say to them of both parties, let us alone; hinder us not. We are about our own business; do you go about yours, if any you have. We are preparing ourselves to meet a great issue. * * *

"Are you for us or against us? Are you hostile or friendly? Give us true account. If you are against the tyranny of monopoly, we are against it; we have a common cause against a common foe. How then can we be scheming to break you up? We are battling for those rights? Then have we a common cause against a common foe, and how say you we are plotting a Democratic trick to catch Republican votes? Here is a square issue. Gentlemen, politicians, meet it squarely. That is the best thing you can do. If your purposes are honest your methods will be manly and direct, and we shall find no difficulty in discovering our friends. Still less are we likely to fail in developing the position of our enemies. Understand us, we are getting to be educated a little, in our post-graduate school, about men and things. We have marked out our course and we intend to pursue it. We have marked it out, not on radical and destructive lines, but within established lines of safety. The purpose of these Alliances, these other organizations and institutions, is educational, and is intended to better our condition, moral, intellectual, civil, pecuniary, social. In so doing we offer no offense; we do no wrong to any party not found in close alliance, offensive, defensive, with our enemies—with trusts, combines, deals and steals. If any party be found in alliance with or exercising a protectorate over these nefarious combines let that party prepare for the onset. We will surely fall upon them, and if we do not crush them it will be because we are not able.

"Such is this agricultural education of the modern sort, whereby our calling is to be made more respected and more effective in all directions in the midst of the modern world."

OLD FASHIONED COURTSHIP

The old-fashioned courtship did not require too much "mothering" or chaperoning. It trusted something to the native purity and prudence of young women and to the honor and chivalry of young men. And it is very doubtful if the proportion of happy marriages has been increased by the guards and checks which have been thrown around courtship by the gradual introduction here of Old World social customs.—N. Y. World.

DUPLIN NEWS.

A SUCCESSFUL DEER HUNT—COUNTY RECORDS SHOULD BE SECURED.

Our Young Men Leave Because Not Appreciated at Home--Kitchen Burned.

[Reg. Cor. The Caucasian.]

Kenansville, N. C., Sept. 9th, 1889.

Deer hunting is all the rage with our young men just now. A crowd went out "driving" one day last week and ran a large "Buck" in the edge of the village, where he was shot and killed by our young townsman, Mr. E. A. Faison. Ed is a good shot and seldom returns from a hunt without meat.

Mr. Henry Faison, of the enterprising firm of J. A. Strickland & Co., returned last week from the north, where he has been purchasing their fall and winter stock, and on receiving their they found that they needed more room, therefore they have removed to the Cox store, on the corner next to the old jail site.

Our County Commissioners, also those of all other counties, not already provided with safes, should take warning by the burning of the courthouse in Moore county last week and provide the courthouse with places of safe-keeping for all valuable papers. It would cost the county less to do this than it would cost to have all the papers burned. We hope they won't think that because it has stood this long that it will continue to stand, for we all know that "the old pitcher went to the well a long time and then got broken."

Mr. Henry Grimes, of Mount Olive, spent last week in town visiting his father.

Mr. Ed K. Fennell, one of our most energetic young men, left last week for Kansas city, Mo. We regret exceedingly to see so many of our boys leave the State, but when they can't get employment in it we admire their pluck in going abroad. If a merchant needs a salesman, nine times out of ten he will send to another town for him before he will employ one of the town boys. If a school principal wants an assistant teacher he must be imported or he is "no good," when there are plenty of teachers right at home who are as competent as the "imported" and very often more so. We wonder if Dr. Grissom's successor will not hail from Maine or New Hampshire? Employers this is decidedly wrong, if you have any State pride show it by trying to support your own State before you do others.

We need a first class "racket store" here. Why don't some enterprising man start up one? It would pay handsomely.

Dr. J. E. Mattkews and family have returned to their home in Wilmington.

The Academy opened to day with 23 pupils but the Principal, Mr. Shaw, expects double this number within a week or two.

Capt A. Robinson lost his kitchen and dining room and contents by fire on the night of the 5th inst. Loss about $200, partially insured. The origin of the fire is unknown. There was possibly a breaking and then a burning.

Messrs. W. D. Wilkins, Jno. E. Page and Peyton Page, have each lost a horse with staggers.

There is a youth in the county whose name is "Heady" and was so named by his father, it is said, because of the great length of his head in his infancy.

The corn and rice crops over the county are reported to be fair, while cotton is very poor but improving.

Mess. W. and H. were recently fishing close together, each having a hook baited with a roach. Something bit Mr. W's hook and was allowed to run, then Mr. H's cork sank. They both pulled. Result: a large Jack fish that had swallowed both hooks. This is no fish story.

Alliance Department.

[The Caucasian was adopted as the official organ of the County Alliances by the County Alliance, January 19th.]

Presidents, Attention!

The National Committee requests the President of each sub-Alliance in the county (or some one appointed by him) to meet the President and Secretary of the County Alliance in Clinton on September 28th to receive important information. We will publish a long circular from the committee next week.

Mr. W. H. Worth, the State Business Agent, has written Mr. G. A. Clute, County Business Agent, that the cotton bagging will be shipped at an early day. He advises farmers to hold their cotton and not to sell at present.

Quarterly Reports.

The Reports for this quarter should be made out to the old Secretary at Hobton. But for the convenience of the brethren, I will receive reports from any or all the lodges at my office in Clinton and turn them over to the Secretary.

Marion Butler, Prest.

Beware of the Greeks.

There is an old adage which says "Fear the Greeks bearing presents." This applies directly to the farmers and the jute bagging men. Two years ago jute bagging sold for from seven to eight cents per yard. Last year the jute men as a thrust at the Alliance charged as high as thirteen cents per yard for their bagging. The farmers determined not to submit to such imposition and robbery. So they have influenced men with capital who were friendly to the farmers and the Alliance to start mills for the manufacture of bagging of the inferior grades of cotton. These mills are of a capacity sufficient to supply 45,000,000 yards, enough to wrap the entire crop, by the first of February, 1890. The jute bagging nobobs now see that their doom is sealed unless they can do something to break up these mills, and how are they trying to accomplish this purpose? They take it for granted that the farmers are ignorant, short-sighted and undividually greedy So the jute men reason to themselves after this fashion: "We are rich and can afford to lose money this year if it will enable us to get our own price for jute hereafter. So let us offer our jute to the farmer this year at six cents per yard. This is cheaper than they can make the cotton bagging. So they will buy our jute and leave the cotton bagging men in the lurch. This will make the cotton bagging men mad, for it will cause them to lose several million dollars. So they will never attempt to make cotton bagging for the farmer any more. Then we will have everything hereafter our own way and can charge what we please for our jute bagging."

This is exactly what the jute men have planned and it is just what they will do, if we, the farmers, now are so short-sighted as to turn our backs upon our friends and accept gifts from the Greeks. Farmers, let us beware of such trickery, for we honestly believe, that if these cotton mills are now broken down, by our fault, that next year the jute men will make us pay fifteen cents a yard for their bagging, and all the world will be laughing at us for our folly. Therefore, it is all important that we refuse to use jute at any price. In fact we would be doing ourselves an injury to use it if given to us, for the jute men would surely make us pay up for it at another time.

"A Good Suggestion."

"ONE THAT MIGHT BE CONSIDERED WITH ADVANTAGE AND PROFIT."

[Wilmington Star.]

The Clinton Caucasian suggests to the Alliances of Sampson county the idea of starting a canning factory in that county, to be under the management of the County Business Agent. It is a good suggestion and one that might be considered with advantage and profit by the Alliances in other counties of the State where fruit is raised to any considerable extent, and where there is not a ready market for it. By co-operating in this way the Alliances would in a short time have a considerable number of such establishments throughout the State and thus be enabled to turn to profitable account the vast quantities of fruit and vegetables, which are now left to rot upon the ground.

—Sampson Fair! Let us make it a big success.

—Don't forget the meeting of the Sampson Veterans on Thursday September 26th.

The Knights of Honor meet Friday night at 8 o'clock. Let every member attend.

—If you let the "Feather Renovators" have your beds, we advise you to weigh each bed before and after.

—Mr. Clifton Ward has received his commission as Postmaster at this place and will take charge next Monday.

—District Deputy Grand Master Wade, of Dunn, will organize a lodge of the I. O. O. F., in Clinton on next Monday, the 16th inst., with 27 members.

—Dr. A. T. Cooper having resigned as Coroner of the county, the Commissioners, at their last meeting, elected Dr. R. H. Holliday to fill the vacancy.

—Mr. W. A. Moore, of Magnolia, has placed upon our table one of the finest pears we have ever seen. It is of the LeConte variety and weighs over a pound.

—Representative W. E. Stevens sold a bale of cotton on this market last week. This was the second bale sold here this season, Mr. R. F. Herring having sold the first.

—Clinton Female Institute last Monday morning numbered 49 pupils, Rev. J. W. Turner's school 38, and Miss Mary Lou Brown's 16. Good openings for our schools.

—Two bales of cotton sold here so far. Clinton will have two or three buyers this fall, representing both Wilmington and Norfolk, and will pay a price at least equal to any neighboring market.

—The Sampson county fair for 1889 is a certainty. It will be held on the 4, 5 and 6th of December next. Now let us all pull together and make it a big success. See details in another column.

—We are indebted to Mr. K. J. Powers, President of South Washington Farmers' Alliance, for an invitation to attend a basket pic-nic of that Alliance, at Willard, on Wednesday, the 25th inst.

—The type read last week that the competitive examination of applicants for free scholarship at the Agricultural College would take place on the 29th inst. It should have read on the 20th.

—We are indebted to Mr. E. M. Hobbs for a cluster of a half a dozen delicious pears of the Sickle variety, also to Mr. Jas. Shipp for a nice bunch of LeConte pears, left in our office some days ago while we were out.

—The revival at the Baptist Church, under the management of Rev. O. P. Meeks, the pastor, continues this week. So far there has been fifteen or sixteen confessions and seven additions to the church. Baptising will take place next Sunday.

—The sermon of Dr. Marable, on the life and character of Saul, last Sunday was among the best we ever heard. Saul was held up as a striking example of the young man of the world, who begins life with the fairest of prospects, but, not having the spirit of God on his side, ultimately comes to a miserable end.

—Mr. W. S. Holmes, who is spending a few days in town, tells us that he saw Mr. A. F. Johnson in New York a few days since. He says Mr. Johnson is looking as well as he ever saw him and weighs one hundred and forty-five pounds, though is very anxious to get back to Clinton. He will return at the first appearance of frost.

—Capt. K. J. Bradv, of Bladen has shown us a six dollar bill of Colonial currency. It is a small bill, 2½ by 3½ inches. It was issued by the Continental Congress in session at Halifax in April 1776. It is signed by J. Bradford, B. McCulloch, Willis Alston and W. Mill, the former three from Halifax county and the later from Martin County. It is apparently endorsed a number of times on the back (which is blank) just as we endorse checks now. Was endorsement necessary to make that Colonial currency negotiable?

Clinton is a live town with live people in it. On every side is to be seen new evidences of thrift and progress. Our merchants were never happier than at present over their large and successful business. We believe that there are more goods sold here, with as little or less profit, than in any town of the state the same size. This is a bold statement, but we think the facts will back us in it. The people are finding this out. Large quantities of goods are sold here every week into the adjoining counties. In addition to this the jobbing trade of this town is begining to be a thing of no small proportions. Let doubters and believers alike come and see.

—The mail facilities are wretched. Every CAUCASIAN was in the Clinton office on last Thursday before 6 o'clock a. m. Yet we have received complaints from twenty places that the papers did not arrive on time. If it is so with papers it will be nearly as bad with letters. Is not the mail of this country too important to be trifled with by the ignoramus, fool-hardy, coon postal clerks of little Ben Harrison? If there is any place where this Government should have intelligent, careful and efficient men it is in the mail service. Report them? Yes, but we have learned that it does no good to report a radical to a radical.

CLINTON CEMETERY.

Its Present Condition vs. Its Past.

As the readers of THE CAUCASIAN know, the Clinton Cemetery was incorporated by an Act of the last Legislature, and that under that charter a Board of Directors was elected, of which W. A. Johnson is chairman, to take charge of the property and keep in not only in repair but also in a condition that will be creditable to our people. Having learned that that live, wide-awake, tasty and energe'ic gentleman, Mr. William A. Johnson, had a large force of laborers upon the grounds reducing the results of shameless negligence to symmetry, order, and beauty, we decided to visit the silent province of the great majority and see for ourself the improvements for the gratification that such a state of affairs would afford us. As a rule, people, who have no respect for the memory and temporal resting place of the dead, can not safely be trusted by the living. However our people will not come under this classification, as the stranger, who hereafter visits the Cemetery will see from its its well-cared-for condition. The grounds situated on a rolling elevation between two small streams are capable of being made really beautiful. The enclosure is about one hundred yards in width by two hundred in length. The lots are thirty-two feet square, separated by three main avenues, intersected by five cross drives, containing about three hundred graves. There are some neat and tasty lots adorned with flowers, shrubbery and tombs or shafts more or less handsome, but until a few days since all was nearly unobserved and hid by grass, weeds, trash and debris. Mr. Johnson has several unique ideas relative to the grounds, when put into effect will add much to the beauty of the grounds and also to the pleasure of those visiting it. He has already had about seventy-five days work done by voluntary labor without levying a cent of tax on the lot owners.

RALEIGH, N. C.,
D. D. & B. Asylum, Sept. 2d, 1889.

To THE CAUCASIAN—The following is my experience at school:

I study my lessons from seven till eight.
Then go to bed at nine o'clock, and sometime rise too late.
Once I was dreaming, one morning at school,
A very queer dream, about breaking a rule,

'Twas breaking a rule, and that was true,
For the Principal came in, and before I knew,
I was feeling something round, long and thin,
A little while after, the Principal came in.

I had broken a rule, and that was plain.
And missed my breakfast, but could not complain,
Our Principal's name is W. J. Young:
He uses the lash instead of his tongue.

MCDANIELS.

During the month of August the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad distributed $1,100 in cash in the proposed town of Parkersburg to the citizens around for timber, lumber and cross-ties furnished. This was very opportune, coming as it did when money was the scarcest. The good effects has been felt already by almost every man in the township.

Mr. R. G. Lewis has just returned from a visit to Mount Olive. He says that the crops through that section are injured very much by excessive rains.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

The Second Epistle of Simon Peter, "a servant and apostle of Jesus Christ, to them that have obtained like precious faith," etc., is one of the finest passages in the New Testament. At Red Hill, on last Sabbath, Rev. D. B. Clayton, of Columbia, S. C, took his text from the 1st chapter, 4th-12th verses of this letter. He discussed the "exceeding great and precious promises," which will be surely realized to us if we follow the injunction to add to our faith, virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, godliness, brotherly kindness and charity. He followed the example of the Apostle Peter by putting us in remembrance of these, and besides, discussed each one of the above virtues and showed how we could add them to our faith and thereby make our calling and election sure. His learned, logical and very interesting sermon was interspersed with many convincing illustrations and classical illustrations from Milton, Pope and others, holding the close attention of the large audience for nearly an hour. Mr. Clayton, though an old man, 72 years of age, is yet strong and vigorous, traveling over many of the Southern States and getting to this county once every three months.

LITTLE COHARIE.

We are sorry to say that Mr. A. D. Cooper is suffering greatly from a bruise on his knee.

The many friends of Mr. Leonidas Cooper will be pleased to know that he is improving.

Mr. Harbrey Faircloth lost a child on the 5th inst.

Mr. G. T. McLamb left on the 6th inst for Trinity College, where he will probably complete his education.

Married, on the 5th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Luther Matthis, Mr. A. P. Poe, of Gulf, N. C., to Miss Mollie P. Mathis, M. M. Hall officiating. Those who were in attendance were Mr. W. M. Perdiew and Miss Mamie Highsmith, Mr. Walter Wells and Miss Lennie Mathis, Mr. T. L. A. Moore and Miss Mary Mathis, Mr. G. T. McLamb and Miss Lena J. Sessoms, Mr, Owen Autry and Miss Ellen Culbreth, Mr. Willie Mathis and Miss Metia Z. Moore. After the ceremony was over the crowd were invited into supper, where there was one of the finest tables of viands the country could afford There were several bridal presents presented, the two most valuable of which were presented by Miss Lena J. Sessoms and Mr. G. T. McLamb.

PINEY GROVE.

The early corn in this township is as good as it ever was. Cain is fine and we will make plenty of syrup. The stalk of rice is fine, but if it does not get rain soon the heads will be light.

The hogs are suffering from a kind of hog fever, which is different from hog cholera.

The Disciples' Baptist church at the cross roads near Mr. John Clifton's will soon be finished. Credit is mostly due to Mr. Wm. Boyette for the builing of this church.

Mr. Stephen O. Sutton is quite low with typhoid fever. His case is critical.

The meeting at the Goshen Church last week resulted in two accessions. The meeting closed Friday night.

Goshen High School received 7 new students last week. We have 90 on roll at this writing.

The Goshen Literary Society has been changed to the David Literary Society. K. & S.

LISBON.

The Ingold Depot on the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. was systematically laid off on the 6th inst., by engineer Strange.

It is beautifully situated on an oak ridge 44 miles Northwest of Wilmington one mile east of Santah river and three miles west of Big Coharie and contains 6 streets 16 squares and 96 lots. Nine (9) bridges across the adjacent water courses give it access to the best turpentine and farming sections of any depot on the new extension.

CITIZEN.

On last Thursday the 5th inst., a gay and merry party of 31 young ladies and gentlemen from Sampson and Bladen counties with friends from Point Caswell, Wilson, N. C. Florida and Virginia, visited the beautiful White Lake in Bladen Co. which of late has become quite a pleasure resort. The party reached the eastern shore at 10 o'clock a. m. and alighted beneath the spreading moss bedecked oaks in front of Mr. Philip Melvin's residence. Boat riding and croquet playing were the chief amusements of the day. At one o'clock was served a bountiful repast and all the baskets nearly refilled with the remaining, sweet meats, pies, cakes and other dainties, and not until late in the after noon did amusements cease and the jovial party turned their smiling faces homeward. FRANK.

Constable A. B. Kelly, with a posse of citizens, came near arresting Frank Blackburn, a desperate character, at Cromartie's Bridge, a few nights since. The posse found him on the bridge in company with his wife and child, and keeping them between himself and those in pursuit he escapend into the woods. The posse was near enough to have shot him, but to do so would have endangered the lives of his wife and child.

Several horses have lately died with blind staggers.

NEW BARBER SHOP.

When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on me at my saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
I cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
My room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen,
And everything I think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all my art and skill can do
If you just call, I'll do for you.

CLINTON, N. C., SEPT. 12, 1889.

A BOY'S COMPOSITION.

American Farm Notes.

Nob Hill was electrified by an "original romance" a few evenings ago. A merry company was assembled, among whom were a number of bright children, who were encouraged in their untutored ways for a while. Finally, some one suggested that the game of telling stories should be started, which consisted in some one starting a story and stopping at a critical point, when some other one should take it up and carry it on a stage further, adding such incidents as should be deemed necessary to make the story go. A semi-apocryphal tale, relating to Adam and Lilith, was started and carried on until the aforesaid Adam and Lilith had numberless domestic disasters culminating in the loss of all their children. At this point it was taken up by a bright boy of eight or nine years old, who continued the story thus:

"And Adam and Lilith felt awful bad when they found that their children were all dead. And Adam said: Let's have some more. So they went to work and in two weeks they had two pairs of twins."

There was a moment of astonished silence at this point in the narration, and then, after a vain attempt to repress it, an explosion that nearly raised the roof. And it will be several years before that particularly bright boy will know why his addition to the story "caught on" so unexpectedly and became the sensation of the evening.

Rheumatism and Catarrh.

Rheumatism and catarrh are both blood diseases. In many severe cases they have yielded to treatment with B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), made by Blood Balm Co., Ga. Write for book of convincing proofs. Sent free.

R. P. Dodge, Atlanta, Ga, says: "My wife had catarrh and nothing did her any good. Her constitution finally failed and poison got into her blood. I placed her on a use of B. B. B., and to my surprise her recovery was rapid and complete."

W. P. McDaniel, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was much emaciated and had rheumatism so bad I could not get along with crutches. I also had neuralgia in the head. First-class physicians did me no good. Then I tried B. B. B., and its effects were magical. I cheerfully recommend it as a good tonic and quick cure."

Mrs. Matilda Nichols, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: I had catarrh six years and a most distressing cough, and my eyes were much swollen. Five bottles of B. B. B., thank God! cured me."

J. M. Davis, Tyler, Texas, writes: "I was subjec a number of years to spells of inflammatory rheumatism, which six bottles of B. B. B., thank heaven, has entirely cured. I have not felt the slightest pain since."

DIFFERENTLY CONSTRUCTED.

[From the Akron Breeze]

A little girl of this village was cryin, bitterly the other evening about something that had happened, when her mother endeavored to soothe her. She told her to "hush" and "never mind" and "stop crying, when the little one answered, between her sobs: "I c-can't mamma, 'cause I ain't built that way."

Catarrh Can't Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

FALSE PROPHET KNIGHTED.

Wiggins is to be knighted, he says, by Queen Victoria. This will be awful. The number of false prophets will multiply at a great rate now. The Republican who is prophesying that there will be a break in the "Solid South" in 1892, will be looking out for a summons from the aged British ruler.—Wilmington Messenger.

CONSUMPTIGN SURELY CURED.

To THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post office address. Respectfully,
